April 18, 2023, Wilmington, DE – Jewish Federation of Delaware has landed four winning entries in the Delaware Press Association’s 2023 Communications Contest.

The annual DPA contest, open to all professional communicators in Delaware and nearby out-of-state communities, encourages and rewards excellence in communication. Judged by out-of-state communications professionals to ensure impartiality, the contest provides an opportunity to compete in various print or electronic broadcasting fields. All DPA contest winners are honored at the DPA Annual Meeting and Contest Awards Banquet each spring.

The annual contest is two-tiered. The first tier of the contest is the statewide DPA competition. The second tier is the national competition, run by the National Federation of Press Women. All entries that receive a first place are eligible for entry into the national competition.

Federation received recognition in the following categories:

First-Place	Public Relations Materials	2022 Jewish Community Study of Delaware &amp; the Brandywine Valley
2 nd Place	Publication	Jewish Living Delaware Magazine
HM	Annual Report	2021-2022 Report to the Community: When We Come TOGETHER, Great Things Happen

“We are honored to receive this level of recognition for our marketing communications efforts that strike an emotional chord with our valued supporters,” stated Jewish Federation of Delaware President & CEO, Seth J. Katzen. “Our communications strive to touch the heart and stimulate the mind of how Federation makes a positive difference in Delaware & the Brandywine Valley, in Israel, and around the world every day.”
